Subject: Comments on Proposed Regulatory Framework

Kathy Frevert
California State Water Board

Last year when I first read about the proposed regulations restricting water usage because of the drought I sent an e-mail to Governor Brown stating that it was unfair because San Diego County was not given credit for the new Desalination Plant in Carlsbad. Actually, the entire plan as it was enacted is unfair. Only those water authorities that have a water shortage should be penalized with restrictions. That is the way a business is operated. By doing this the water authorities that have a water shortage will have a greater incentive to take actions to reduce their water shortage. If the State of California wants to long term actually reduce the consumption of water this would be the most efficient manner in which to do it.

Thank you for consideration of this matter.
